Collective Investments within your SIPP

The Financial Services Authority is the independent financial services regulator. It requires us to give you this important information to help you to decide whether to hold Collective Investments within your SIPP. You should read this document carefully so that you understand what you are buying, and then keep it safe for future reference.

What is a Collective Investment?

Collective Investments (often described as “funds”) are any form of investment that involves the pooling of investors’ funds. Investors’ contributions are pooled and invested on their behalf by professional fund managers. The most common form of Collective Investment schemes are unit trusts and Open-Ended Investment Companies (OEICs).

Your commitment

You may need to commit to investing for a long time period to achieve a return on some funds.

It is your responsibility to assess the risk of an investment before investing your money.

Funds will generally be subject to a minimum investment. Details can be found in the fund specific information within the Research Centre of our website www.sippcentre.co.uk

Once you have placed an order to purchase a Collective Investment, you will not be able to cancel the order.

The risks

- The value of your investments and the income from them can go down as well as up and is not guaranteed. You may get back less than the amount invested.
- If you invest in a fund, the degree of risk will depend on the underlying securities held within the unit trust or OEIC. The risk is likely to be higher where a fund has a high degree of concentration on a particular type of investment or sector than where it is well diversified. Some specific areas of investment which may lead to higher risk are:
 - o Smaller companies, the price of which can be more volatile
 - o Overseas investments, which may carry an exchange rate risk, and may be based in less well regulated jurisdictions
 - o Options, warrants and other highly geared investments, the prices of which are normally volatile
- Information about the risks associated with specific Collective Investments is available in the Research Centre and in individual fund managers’ websites
- Non UCITS funds carry additional risks. Please see What are non UCITS funds below.

Questions and Answers

Does the Service provide investment advice?

No. Our dealing service for Collective Investments is provided on an execution only basis. If you need investment advice, you should consult a suitably qualified financial adviser before you deal.

When are deals carried out?

Unit trust and OEIC deals are processed daily, depending on the dealing cut off time for the fund (this varies from fund to fund). Orders received after the dealing cut off time will be executed the next business day.

When do unit trusts and OEICs settle?

There is a standard settlement period of four business days for unit trusts and OEICs.

What can I invest in?

You can deal in unit trusts and OEICs.

You will have access to a wide range of unit trusts and OEICs. Any specially negotiated discounts on unit trusts and OEICs are passed on to your SIPP.

You can deal in most unit trusts and OEICs online, with other unit trusts and OEICs available via telephone dealing. See the Funds List on our website (www.sippcentre.co.uk) for further details.

What is the difference between unit trusts and OEICs?

Both unit trusts and OEICs are open-ended investments. This means that more shares or units can be issued or cancelled according to supply and demand at any stage. There are some key differences:

- unit trusts issue units and OEICs issue shares.
- unit trusts generally have two prices, a bid price at which you sell and an offer price at which you buy; OEICs have one price, called the single price at which you buy and sell.

What do unit trusts and OEICs invest in?

This will depend on the fund's specific investment objectives but could include equities (UK & overseas), company and government bonds (UK & overseas), property, derivatives and cash.

What is the difference between Income and Accumulation Units?

Unit trusts are usually issued in two classes: income (sometimes called 'distribution') units, and accumulation units. Income units pay out a distribution of the income derived from the fund whereas accumulation units retain this cash within the fund.

How can I get information about unit trusts and OEICs?

The Research Centre contains comprehensive research, analysis and news on funds. You can search for information by fund name or Keyword or by browsing by fund manager or sector.

How can I find out about the past performance of a unit trust or OEIC?

Within our Research Centre, you are able to find comprehensive fund performance data.

What are non UCITS funds?

The UCITS ("Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities") framework provides a set of European standards for the operation of collective investment funds, with the intention that funds may be sold across the EU. It places restrictions on the nature of underlying investments and the proportions in which they may be held within a UCITS fund. This tends to restrict the risk which may be taken by the manager of a UCITS fund. Non UCITS funds are those which do not comply with the UCITS framework, and such funds are likely to carry a higher degree of risk. In some cases the risk may be so high that you could lose all the money you have invested.

Can I use the service to deal in funds outside my SIPP?

No. We only accept instructions to deal within your SIPP.

What charges do I pay for investing in a unit trust or OEIC?

Our charges for this service are shown in the Charges and Rates section of our website www.sippcentre.co.uk.

Fund managers also make charges. Their initial charges for issuing the units are included in the price calculation. In many cases we have negotiated a discount with the fund managers. Details are shown on the dealing page.

The fund managers also make an annual management charge. Details can be found within the specific fund section in the Research Centre.

Do I pay tax on any income or gains within my SIPP portfolio?

No, there is no tax to pay on any income or capital gains from investments held within your SIPP. Tax deducted at source on dividends, however, cannot be reclaimed.

How do I obtain a valuation of my SIPP?

You can obtain a valuation of your portfolio via our website.

We also send you regular statements.

What should I do if I have a complaint?

Customer satisfaction is very important to us and if you do have cause to complain about the services provided there are clear procedures laid down by the Financial Services Authority to ensure that your complaint is dealt with fairly.
